The Other Side—A Warning.

[illegible] Ogn., Jan. [illegible] 1862.

[illegible]

We [illegible] remarks [illegible] be heeded [illegible] not, they are well intended, and may, at a future time, be remembered. We are in the eve of [illegible] mining history. Of the [illegible] events in our country [illegible] that weal or woe, I shall not now write. The public [illegible] exist [illegible] here, in [illegible] gold [illegible] in the [illegible] sections of Oregon and Washington Territory. Rich deposits [illegible] have been found there and more may yet be found. The vast extent of these discoveries may affect us in a general point, as of grave importance to our whole country.

[illegible] mining community, in the immediate vicinity of [illegible] mines have ever been permanently benefitted, I fully deny. Vice, poverty and general crimes more or less prevail [illegible] sections [illegible]. The minds of the miners are wrought up to the highest state of expectation and wild and visionary ideas of sudden wealth haunt their minds—[illegible] mines [illegible] only [illegible]. In the very nature of things those mines are not suited to our actual and permanent citizens! A large portion of the avails of those mines must be [illegible] supplies [illegible] the miners. Who ought to furnish those supplies? Or rather the question arises who will furnish them? Great scarcity of money has been felt here for several years past.

The country has abounded, during those years, with an abundance of home supplies. The dreadful floods that lately swept over much of Oregon have destroyed a large amount of our stock, grain, farm improvements and [illegible] property generally.—But very little wheat was sown last fall in Oregon. Almost every man [illegible] capable of [illegible] is now preparing to rush to those mines from nearly all sections of Oregon. A very large number from California, W. T. and the U. S. will visit those mines in 1862. If Oregon becomes a mining community then foreign supplies will take away a very large proportion of all the gold which will be found. Perhaps the [illegible] may make his "Pile" at those mines. These "Piles" will be the "Texts" for numerous letter writers and speculators. The fate of about four fifths of the miners will be carefully kept in the dark.—If our farms, shops, mills, orchards, stock, towns and factories are neglected how will our defunct ones be supported next winter here on their return? These mines are but small—perhaps one claim to each 50 persons compared to the number there, and going there. The idea of those mines on Powder river, Burnt river and Grande Ronde being of vast extent and richness is mere humbug, as thousands will know in less than a year. The deposits on Salmon river are of surprising richness but they are small in extent, and very much country around them has been well prospected and failed. On Oro Fino the claims but partly pay. On South Fork of Clearwater there is quite a number of paying claims, but all taken up long ago. [illegible] reach us from the "Golden Lands," that new deposits are found there these times. If people were not insane they would at once perceive that these tales are unreasonable and false. That whole country is covered with snow from two to eight feet deep! and the weather intensely cold for three months past. What few miners have remained in that cold and desolate land will do well if they can live in their huts during the long snow season there. By the middle of next June, persons can begin to prospect that country for new diggings. Thousands [illegible] famishing on to the base of the Blue Mountains where they will be stopped by the snow and cold weather till the [illegible] of May. None from Western Oregon should leave here [illegible] the last of April. All the lands in cultivation here should be sown before then [illegible]. The farmer, [illegible] and children can tend the [illegible] and gardens. At [illegible] the defunct ones return [illegible] save the crops and fruit, and that will pay it. Those men who are sane enough to stay at home [illegible] work hard and produce [illegible] will [illegible] be paid by piles. The high prices [illegible] 40 and 50. Whether we will be benefited or [illegible] bankrupted [illegible] people [illegible] next [illegible] time will tell.

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 10, 1862.

Treason.

The Advertiser of the 8th inst., in speaking of the acts of the Southern rebels, says: "WE BLAME THEM NOT; understand us, WE BLAME THEM NOT."

What were the early acts of the Southern rebels when the democratic secession party were in power—and before the inauguration of President Lincoln?

Let the following facts answer:

Dec. 27, 1860.—The United States revenue cutter Aiken was betrayed by her commander into the hands of the South Carolina authorities.

Dec. 31.—Reports from Charleston state that strong fortifications are going up in and around the harbor, to resist any reinforcement of Fort Sumter.

Jan. 1, 1861.—It is ascertained that military companies have been organized and drilled in Maryland and Virginia for months—some of them under the eye of an officer of the regular army—and that the object was to seize Washington.

Jan. 2.—Gov. Ellis, of North Carolina, dispatched troops to-day to seize upon Fort Mason at Beaufort, the forts at Wilmington, and the United States Arsenal at Fayetteville.

Gov. Pickens has accepted the offer of ten thousand volunteers, who hold themselves in readiness to march at a moment's warning.

Jan. 3.—The South Carolina Commissioners return home from Washington, after writing insulting letters to the President.

Jan. 4.—The United States Arsenal, at Mobile, seized by the Alabama troops, with large quantities of ammunition and arms. Fort Morgan, at Mobile, was also seized.

Agents of the Southern States are purchasing arms in New York.

Jan. 9.—The steamer Star of the West, with supplies for Fort Sumter, fired upon in Charleston harbor.

Jan. 11.—The arsenal at Baton Rouge, Louisiana, seized by the State authorities. Forts Jackson and St. Phillip, at the mouth of the Mississippi river, and Fort Pickens, at Lake Ponchartrain entrance, seized by the State troops.

Jan. 13.—The navy yard and Fort McRae, at Pensacola, seized by Alabama and Florida troops.

Jan. 24.—The arsenal at Augusta, Georgia, seized by the State authorities.

Jan. 30.—Revenue cutters Cass and McClellan, seized by the Alabama authorities.

Feb. 1.—The United States Mint and Custom House, at New Orleans, seized by the State authorities.

Feb. 18.—Jeff. Davis inaugurated as President of the Confederate States of America.

Feb. 25.—Gen. Twiggs betrayed all his command in Texas, with forts, public money, and munitions of war, into the hands of the Texas authorities.

All these events occurred while James Buchanan was President of the United States; and the arrangements for this rebellion were made by Southern members of Congress while they were acting under oaths of allegiance to the Union, and while the democratic party of President Buchanan was in power.

In view of all these events and others which have succeeded them, the Portland Advertiser says of the rebels, "WE BLAME THEM NOT; understand us, WE BLAME THEM NOT."

The Advertiser thus justifies these treasonable acts; thus "gives aid and comfort to the enemy," and announces its design to make its principles and its party successful in the coming Oregon election. This was avowed to be the object of Gen. Lane months since, and that object is not abandoned.

We have too much confidence in the patriotism of our people to believe that this State is to take the position towards our government now occupied by the rebel States.

The Other Side—a Warning.

We have an article under this head from our old friend, David Newsom. It contains practical good sense. He fears that many who will leave their farms the coming Spring will not make their pile, as they desire; and that it will be a capital plan for them to make some provision for a retreat back to the Valley. "This would be the part of prudence, under the circumstances; and to do this, he suggests that they go to work as soon as the weather will suit, and put as much of their ground into wheat as possible; for, there will be a demand for more wheat the coming season than Oregon is likely to produce."

Mr. Newsom has some regard for the interests of the country, as well as of the miners. He says truly that if Oregon does not supply the mines with provisions, and to some extent articles of her manufacture, the gold gathered in the mines will pass out of the country. He says that the few weeks left before the stampede takes place for the mines, should be well employed in sowing wheat, to secure to unsuccessful miners something to fall back upon.

Which is the loyal man, Johnson or Sumner?

"I would not be personal, but an Abolitionist is as much a Secessionist as any to be found in South Carolina."—Andrew Johnson.

"The Abolitionists need no defence from me. It is to their praise, destined to fill an immortal page, that from the beginning they saw the true character of slavery, and warned their country against its threatening domination. Through them the fires of Liberty have been kept alive in the United States."—Sumner.—Portland Advertiser.

From the time that Mr. Sumner was elected to the Senate of the United States, by the democratic party, it has been known that he sympathized with abolitionists, and but for the outrage inflicted upon him in the Senate by the bludgeon in the hands of a Southerner, he would have retired from the Senate on the expiration of his term. We have never believed in the slave doctrines of Mr. Sumner.

But we do believe with Andrew Johnson, that in this rebellion the abolitionists have been as much secessionists as any to be found in South Carolina. Both were for breaking up the Union—abolitionists, that the free States might be a free nation; the secessionists, that the South might be a nation whose institutions should be based on slavery.

The Union party, made up of republicans and democrats, on the contrary, are for the continuance of the Union; and if, in the contest to secure this, slavery is used against them, we say with Andrew Johnson, quoted by the Advertiser, that the Union and government are worth more than slavery.

COTTON INTERVENTION.—The London Economist says, the hopes of the Secessionists that England will violate all national laws, and break up the blockade of Southern ports, for the sake of obtaining a supply of cotton, are idle and vain; and goes on to remark that "the resources of the South, never vast or very ready, are derived solely from the sale of their produce; for of accumulated funds they have no great store. The sale of their cotton crop will, therefore, soon become to them an object of absolute necessity; and when they feel this, and can be definitively satisfied that forcible interventions from Europe is an idle dream, they will hurry their cotton down to the ports or to some easy and safe distance from the coast, so as to have it ready for shipment by any vessels that arrive and are prepared for the risk of endeavoring to evade the blockading squadron. At present they feel at ease, for there is no cotton gathered and packed, and no ships ready to receive it; so they can safely indulge in a menace which they hope will bring terrified Europe to their aid. But as soon as the cotton is ready to come forward we have no doubt it will be transmitted to the coast, provided they can be made to renounce their hopes of foreign interposition."

ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.—In 1844, the first electric telegraph line was erected between Baltimore and Washington City, a length of forty-four miles—and there are now in America fifty thousand miles of telegraph.

MINERS FROM NEVADA.—A letter to one of our citizens from Virginia City, says that five hundred miners will leave that neighborhood for the Salmon river mines, as soon as the weather will permit.

NEW POSTMASTERS.—The following Postmasters have been recently appointed: George Coggan, at Glad Tidings, Clackamas county, and Thomas H. Cox, at Jefferson, Marion county.

BOUND OVER.—A lieutenant belonging to Fort Hoskins, has been put under bonds not to bring secessionists in King's Valley. So says the Corvallis Union.

Olympia Correspondence.

OLYMPIA, Friday, Jan. 3d, 1862.

Col. Justus Steinberger, U. S. A., arrived here yesterday on the steamer from Victoria, and is now engaged in seeking information from our prominent citizens as to the probability of raising a Regiment from this Territory. The great attraction of the rich gold fields now being developed in our Territory east of the Cascades, it is feared will defeat the enlistment of men. The Col. avows the right sentiments. He will not directly or indirectly aid to position any man who is doubtful. A man who prates about supporting the Government, and yet is opposed to its administration, is by him regarded as laboring under disability. He has tendered the Lt. Colonelcy to that gallant Republican, Gilmore Hays—and the universal hope is that he will accept. If this is an earnest of the Col.'s intention, abundant success attend his efforts. By the way, it should be remarked, the Colonel will not incur the possibility of any expense to the National Treasury until he has satisfied himself that the Regiment is likely to be raised.

In the Council to-day a number of bills of a local character, mainly ferry charters and special privileges, were acted upon.

A Joint resolution was introduced and passed, and afterwards concurred in by the House, to go into Joint Convention on Monday the 6th inst. to elect a Territorial Printer.

A Joint resolution was passed assuring the assessing and collecting of our quota of the direct tax imposed by act of Congress. And the committee of ways and means were on motion of Col. Hubbs, instructed to report a Bill to provide for its assessment and collection.

A Bill abolishing the office of Assessor in several counties, imposing that duty upon the Sheriff, was passed.

In the House, Messrs. Lombard, Ruth and Griswold, who had been appointed a Committee to examine the credentials of the newly appearing members, reported that Messrs. Aird of Clark, and McCall of Cowlitz, were entitled to seats and they were sworn in.

The Committee on Corporations reported the Oregon Navigation Bill, striking out the Section, and adding their original charter, and still leaving their charter, contingent upon the Legislature. Much opposition appears to exist, against granting any company, the exclusive control of the Columbia river, the great feasible channel of travel to the mines, and it is doubtful whether this Bill or any of like character will pass this session.

A number of ferry Bills and charters were before the House.

On motion of Col. Cock the Special Committee which made such a severe report against the Collector at Port Townsend, were instructed to furnish the evidence whereon they based their censure, and three days were allowed to collect it.

Mr. Griswold's Union Resolutions were handsomely passed without any amendment or alteration.

The Reports of the Territorial Superintendent of Schools, the Librarian, Auditor and Treasurer were presented and ordered printed.

Mr. Gardiner of Clark introduced a memorial for a weekly mail to Walla Walla, which under a suspension of the rules was passed. Mr. Bates of Spokane, a memorial to extend the public surveys, and the necessary appropriation; this memorial also passed.

QUID NUNC.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15.—Colonel Jennison and nine hundred men moved on Independence early this morning. The town was surprised, and the citizens collected in the public square. The Union men and rebels were separated. Col. Jennison then read a proclamation, and announced that he would hold the latter responsible for the safety of Government trains. The stores of D. J. Porter, J. M. Frazier, and Morse & Fisher, proprietors with General Price, were confiscated. The house of Porter, as also the mill and three thousand bushels of wheat owned by Thomas Richards, a captain with Price, and two houses three miles from town, were burnt by order. They were the rendezvous of the rebels. Seventy horses, twenty wagons and fifty negroes, were also confiscated.

SOUTHERN FINANCES.—Robt. J. Walker, who is probably the shrewdest State financier on the continent, has prophecied that Mr. Memminger's Southern budget will be bankrupted by next Spring; and it would not surprise us if within sixty days the rebel experiment should terminate for lack of funds—if, in short, the rebellion should die out for lack of material sustenance.

R. J. Walker is now in Washington and sustains the Administration with all his ability. When he heard of the disastrous reconnoissance at Ball's Bluff he exclaimed, "Do not let us despair; we have the ships, the seamen, and the money. The rebels have neither. The army will not fail us, and the navy never did."

The Portland Advertiser of yesterday, more than usual, is filled with the nigger.

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a tight LOCK-STITCH, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk, directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle; curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer; should stitch, fell, run and gather; and always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, nor ravel.

CITY.

THE L[illegible] United States District Court [illegible] this morning at ten o'clock [illegible] Hon. M. P. Deady will deliver [illegible] the City of Portland [illegible] the title [illegible] city.

In the [illegible] suits were on trial [illegible] the public.

FROM [illegible] —Capt. M. Nulty, of the [illegible] arrived overland at this city night before last. He informs us that that the Columbia river, at Cape Horn, is closed with ice from shore to shore.

The steamer Julia had not arrived from St. Helens last night at the hour of going to press. She was to meet the [illegible] Cortes from Victoria, there.

DEMOCRATIC SENTIMENT IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The Boston Post, the great democratic press of New England, says: "The nation has a great war before it—too great for one alone can show. But we cannot exaggerate its greatness—we have not exaggerated its length—and the sooner we take a long and large view of it the better. We must look far ahead, and go in for the war, and in this view we must take things coolly and pluckily, stiffening our backbone to go through with anything and everything to insure the ultimate triumph which we have reason to expect and which we are bound to have, and utterly ignoring, if need be, all sorts of unfavorable incidents, the contemplation of which would tend to disturb and harass. It is wind and bottom that tell—it is the pace that kills, as the South are beginning to discover—it is the last round that the nation is to gain. Yorktown outweighed the almost numberless defeats that Washington experienced and met with so much of stern but cheerful fortitude. Cool, enduring, unwavering pluck is what we need and must have in good and in evil. We should know too much to be disturbed by partisan [illegible]—we should estimate events at their true, and not their newspaper value, and even if the national cause really went ill for a season (which is not the case at present, thank God, [illegible] our brave soldiers!) we should still look forward to final triumph as bold-hearted soldiers of the right, armed with all human skill and power [illegible] to command success."

FRESH OYSTERS.—The sloop Carlos [illegible] from Shoalwater Bay with a cargo of fresh oysters [illegible] sold at Commercial Wharf.

MARRIED:

At the residence of Capt. Z. C. Norton, Clackamas county, Oregon, Jan. 1st, 1862, by Rev. J. Gerrish, Mr. Daniel S. Norton, to Miss Mary M. Silsby, adopted daughter of Capt. Norton.

☞ Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. CONCERNING STEAM COMMUNICATION BETWEEN CALIFORNIA, JAPAN AND CHINA.—To second the efforts of the New York Chamber of Commerce in securing a line of Government steamships between California, Japan and China, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has [illegible] addressed a memorial to Congress on the subject. It commences by stating that in its judgment a steamer mail to Japan and China, in subsidized steamers or armed vessels, by which treasure shipments might be protected, is a present and prospective commercial necessity. California has been greatly instrumental in bringing the American mercantile marine to its present power and strength, as the annual freights paid in San Francisco to inward bound ships is $4,250,000, while our outward freights of cereals alone have equalled [illegible] California pays $[illegible] per annum for [illegible] $40,000,000 to [illegible] firms in the States. The recent shipment of gold bullion [illegible] have been received with great favor [illegible] highly desirable that our gold and silver speedily reach its best market on the Asiatic coast, as such a course will prove a great saving to the business of the United States. Such a line will give American great advantages over European merchants in a quick communication with the Orient, and make New York and San Francisco the turning points of exchange to be paid for in bullion. The large amounts of silver now shipped direct to China from Central and South American countries would seek San Francisco for conveyance; that the number of commercial travelers via San Francisco to or from Asia is yearly increasing, that a line such steamers would divert the trade, passengers and commerce of other nations to our ports, besides extending and strengthening our own, whilst the steam lines from Vancouver Island to Chile would be tributaries to it; that the merchant marine and ship building interests of the Pacific would be spurred forward, and thus in time of war, California may be able to fight without aid from the General Government; that our shipping and commerce on the American and Asiatic coast requires the protection of a steam navy; that our commerce with China has doubled within the last year, and trade with Japan is precarious from lack of a naval force attending it. American merchants will save by direct shipment of bullion to China, exchange, interest and commission. These are the principal points suggested in the memorial, which goes over land by to-day's mail.

Madame de Staël was a pitiless talker.—Some gentlemen who wished to teach her a lesson, introduced a person to her who, they said, was a very learned man. The blue stocking received him very graciously, but eager to produce an impression, began to talk away, and asked a thousand questions, so engrossed with herself that she did not notice that her visitor made no reply. When the visit was over, the gentlemen asked Corinne how she liked their friend. "A most delightful man!" was the reply. "What wit and learning!" Here the laugh came in—the visitor was deaf and dumb.

The great cry with everybody is, "Get on! get on!" just as if the world were traveling post. How astonished people will be, when they arrive in Heaven, to find the angels, who are so much wiser, laying no schemes to be made archangels!

"I say, boy, is there anything to shoot about here?" inquired a sportsman of a boy he met. "Well," was the reply, "nothing just about here; but the schoolmaster is down the hill yonder—you can pop him over."

Somebody says "devil" is a mean word any way it may be written. Remove the d and it is "evil;" remove the e and it is "vil;" remove the v and it is "il;" remove the i and l remains, which has the aspirate sound of "hell."

It is a greater blunder, in the pursuit of happiness, not to know when we have got it; that is, not to be content with a reasonable and possible measure of it.

Little Sallie was teaching her younger brother the Lord's prayer. They went on very smoothly until she arrived at "Give us this day our daily bread." "No, no, Sissy—me want cake," and he refused to proceed until the desired amendment was made.—[Little Pilgrim.
